*TRS for Mil Techs in 2030 explained:

- Congressional Budget Office (CBO) determines the cost of each bill over a 10-year period
- CBO computed this provision would cost about $200 million in mandatory spending (such as Social Security, Medicare, VA pensions); but would save the government about $1.5 billion in discretionary spending (such as DOD funding)
- Armed Services Committees had to find an offset to $200 million in mandatory spending and did not, so they set the effective date 10 years out, in 2030
- We will work with Congress to help find an offset that will bring effective date closer to current date.
- At least the repeal of the restriction is in law!
